Question:

Can I delete systems not found in my facility?

Answer:

BUILDER Real Property data is preloaded along with at least five systems and their components. If you find that your facility does not have some of these systems, you can delete the empty systems after you create a comment that those systems are not found in your facility. Users without read-only restrictions can edit and delete systems. It is important to avoid deleting systems that may still have section components beneath them so that there is no loss of data.
